On behalf of the trustees of the Middle Georgia State University Foundation, we are delighted to share with you the Foundation’s 2015 Annual Report. The 2015 calendar year included many firsts for the MGA family: our first-ever homecoming as a consolidated university with events on all five campuses, the Knights Golf Tournament hosted by Houston Lake Country Club in Houston County benefiting our eight varsity athletic programs, and the inaugural Heart of Georgia Air Show held on our Eastman Campus. We also saw, for the second consecutive year, new standards of excellence and success in our fundraising.
As I enter my third year as president at Middle Georgia State University, I am deeply honored and grateful to be a part of this remarkable institution. Indeed, as we enter our first semester enrolling both undergraduate and graduate students, I am pleased to report that it has been a highly successful year.

Together we have realized the vision of becoming Georgia’s newest public university. The path that led us here has at times been daunting, yet together we have reached a moment when we are articulating who we are as never before. As we begin this new chapter in this history of MGA, your support has been and will continue to be vital to our continued focus on student success and shaping the cultural and economic life of this region and state.

As the university is evolving, so is our student population, like that at every college and university across this country. This past January was a pivotal moment in the life of Middle Georgia State University. Forty-nine students enrolled in our MSIT and MSN programs represent our first-ever graduate students.

Perhaps most encouraging about that figure are the faces behind it. Of our new graduate students, some 80% are alumni of Middle Georgia State—having earned either their associate or baccalaureate degrees at MGA or one of our predecessor institutions. Their choice to return to Middle Georgia State indicates that our strategy of offering demand-driven programs is effective.

Not to be outdone, our undergraduate population saw new levels of greatness as well. The number of talented high school students getting their college careers started at Middle Georgia State is on the rise. Nearly 400 dual-enrollment students are taking courses here this semester—up 13.5% over last year. Additionally, the number of new, first-time, full-time students attending Middle Georgia State is up by 9.1% over last year. Not only are more students starting college at Middle Georgia State, more are earning their baccalaureate degrees here. In Fall 2015, the number of graduates receiving bachelor’s degrees increased by 20% over last year!

Our student population and our university are growing, both in numbers and in our service to Middle Georgia. We have pledged to be responsive to the needs of this community, to help remove the barriers for economic growth, and to provide education that meets economic development needs. And we are succeeding in those efforts.

The principles that will guide our success were laid out in the university’s new strategic plan, unveiled last fall. The plan calls for us to focus on five strategic directions:

- Quality and Distinctiveness of Student Success;
- Academic Reputation, Flagship Programs, and Community Outreach;
- Technology for a 21st Century University;
- Fiscal Sustainability; and
- The University Community of Faculty and Staff.

More than half way into the first year of that plan, we are making progress on each of those directions.

The opportunities before us are enhanced by your investment in our institution and our communities. As we reach new milestones, we cannot thank you enough for your support. Your generosity is shaping a great future for our students and our communities.

Through the generosity of MGA alumni, friends, faculty, staff, and students, 2015 proved to be a great year for the University and the Foundation. The largest number of donors in the history of Middle Georgia State University helped make this year’s annual campaign the most successful in our history, helping to raise more than $870,000—including a remarkable 22% increase in alumni participation. More than $352,000 in scholarships were awarded to 325 students—more scholarships, in number and dollar amounts, are being awarded than at any time in our history. These figures represent the Foundation’s direct commitment to increasing our support for the University and to the broad range of students it serves.

This is a direct result of your support. You have translated your hard work, success, and generosity into meaningful, sustainable resources for our students. You play a significant role in helping the Foundation keep its promise to the University and we are infinitely grateful for your contribution. For this, and for all that you have done and will continue to do, we offer our profound and heartfelt gratitude.

2015 also saw the Foundation commit itself to a new standard in fundraising. Just this past January, the Foundation completed a feasibility study that will establish the priorities and goals for a comprehensive capital campaign in the very near future. While the scope of this campaign is still being formed, we are pleased to share that it will focus its efforts on the very heart of this great university—our faculty and our students. We look forward to sharing more about this exciting new undertaking in the months ahead. Your support will be crucial to our success.

The future for Middle Georgia State is promising and full of opportunity. As we begin our journey as Georgia’s newest public university, we commit ourselves to continue to serve and support this great institution, the students it serves, and the community of Middle Georgia.

We are tremendously grateful to you for investing in Middle Georgia State’s most precious resource—our students.

Brandon Poulton has had a lot of heartbreak in his life, but he has always remained strong and determined to follow his dreams to become a successful entrepreneur. Brandon’s father’s unfortunate death left his mother with the financial burden of raising two sons on her own. Through all of this, his mother instilled strong values into both her sons to work hard and to always follow their dreams. Brandon is pursuing a degree in electrical engineering and materials science and will transfer to Georgia Tech once his core classes are complete through Regents’ Engineering Transfer Program. “Receiving the Virginia Black Fugate Scholarship from the MGA Foundation has allowed me to worry less about money and focus more on my studies. With less student debt, I will be able to graduate, find a good job, and with any extra money, help support my mom and finally give her some peace that she so deserves.”

The Middle Georgia State University Center for Digital Imagery and Documentary Film will be the catalyst for the film industry in this region with the production and instruction of digital film. Now that Georgia has become the third largest state in the U.S. for film production, the Center, housed at the Harriet Tubman Museum, provides a unique opportunity to engage middle Georgians and afford the university a much needed presence in historic downtown Macon, which has become the hub for new businesses, restaurants, residential development, and tourism. The Center is funded in part by the MGA Foundation and other community partners.

Middle Georgia State’s School of Education hosted its first Junior Knight Summer Camp for 160 rising first-through sixth-graders on the Macon Campus. The camp included fun STEM and arts activities, including assembling 3D castles, designing coats of arms, participating in UAV flying and launching rockets. Faculty and teacher candidates created a unique educational opportunity aimed to ignite their curiosity and get them excited about learning. Thrilled with the response from the local community, the university plans to expand the camp in 2016 to include a similar camp for youngsters near the Cochran campus.

8 Middle Georgia State University Foundation / 2015 GREATNESS REPORT
Tiffany Souther always knew she wanted to pursue a career in clinical psychology with an emphasis on autism and other psychological disorders. As a single mother of two, she knows first-hand the huge demand in this field after waiting a year to get her own child a psychological evaluation. Last November, Tiffany quit her full time job so she could focus on her studies. It was a difficult decision but one she knew that she had to make in order to continue her education. Even though student loans help to pay for living expenses and daycare, she said that she wouldn’t have been able to meet the financial demands of going back to school without the help of the Wine & Spirits Foundation Scholarship she received from the MGA Foundation. “This scholarship is helping me in my academic endeavor which will lead to a brighter future for me and my family as well as those I’ll be able to help in the future.”

Ginny Svonavec was a devoted wife and mother. Along with her husband Stephen, she ensured that her four sons, all first-generation college students, had the opportunity to receive a university education. In 2015 Dr. Stephen Svonavec and Dr. Kara Smith Svonavec established the Ginny Svonavec Memorial Endowed Scholarship in memory of Stephen’s mother. The scholarship honors her belief in the power of education to help improve one’s life. It is intended to provide assistance to first-generation college students attending the Dublin Campus of Middle Georgia State University.
MGA’S FIRST HOMECOMING

Middle Georgia State University hosted its first homecoming as a University in the fall of 2015 that expanded across all five campuses. Each campus hosted at least one homecoming event. Designed to cater to a wide range of interests, activities ranged from the Heart of Georgia Airshow at the Eastman campus; Club Football, where the Knights beat Alabama Prep in Cochran; food festivals and family fun days at the Cochran, Warner Robins, and Dublin campuses; and the Tunes & Balloons festival at the Macon campus. Homecoming attracted more than 3,000 alumni, faculty, staff, students, and friends from the Middle Georgia area. Homecoming is among a number of annual events Middle Georgia State plans to host in order to build community engagement among those graduates and former students.

Mark your calendar for November 2016 to attend the University’s homecoming events.

2015 GREATNESS REPORT
More than 220 guests filled the University’s conference center last October to enjoy the festive, black-tie President’s Gala & Silent Auction presented by Sheridan Construction. The celebration began with a reception including specialty bars and a photo booth, a silent auction, a seated dinner and program, and the evening culminated with dancing and entertainment by President Blake’s Muddle Jawja Band and The Grapevine. This signature event was a tremendous success raising more than $90,000 for scholarships, classroom and program enhancements, and quality academics for our students.
The First Knight Golf Tournament presented by State Bank & Trust Company raised nearly $30,000 for the university’s athletic programs. The May 4, 2015 event at Houston Lake Country Club provided much needed support for our varsity athletic teams as we seek to ensure our student athletes remain competitive—both on the field of play and in the classroom.

One of the key strategies in strengthening the traditional undergraduate experience at Middle Georgia State is building strong athletic teams. Our eight varsity athletic teams will soon become ten when we add Women's Cross Country and Women's Volleyball teams in the fall of 2016. We are proud that our Knights are the 2015 National Club Football Association (NCFA) National Champions.

Student athletes are among our most successful students, and we are excited that we can now reward their academic and athletic success by allowing them to experience a four-year baccalaureate degree and practice their sporting skills as Middle Georgia Knights for their entire degree program.
Outstanding Alumnus

Middle Georgia State University Foundation honored its first “Outstanding Alumnus” at the 2015 President’s Gala. Emory Lee Gordy, Jr., former Middle Georgia College class of 1964 graduate was recognized for his influence and achieved positions in the music industry. Gordy, who is married to award-winning singer Patty Loveless, went on to have a very successful career as a bass player, composer, writer and producer. Over his career, Gordy performed with the Bellamy Brothers, Tom Petty, and John Denver among many others. In 1983, he joined MCA Records in Nashville and produced albums for artists including George Jones, Vince Gill, Alabama, and Patty Loveless. He was inducted into the Georgia Music Hall of Fame in 1992.

Middle Georgia State University Foundation established the Outstanding Alumnus Award to recognize graduates who have distinguished themselves academically, professionally or through community involvement, and achieved positions of influence and regional or national reputation.

Legacy of Leadership

One of Georgia’s most successful businessmen and a highly visible civic leader, Bob Hatcher has long focused much of his considerable energy on what is now Middle Georgia State University.

He served the former Macon State College Foundation as a trustee for eight years before then Governor Sonny Perdue appointed him to the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia. Among the direct results of his work on those boards was the elevation of Middle Georgia State to university status in July 2015.

Kathryn Dennis, president of the Community Foundation of Central Georgia, describes Bob as “the linchpin in the institution’s growth. Bob and leadership are synonymous.”

The Legacy of Leadership Award recognizes an individual, persons or group who has given exemplary service to the University and the Foundation and is the highest honor the Foundation bestows.
