Today we celebrate Middle Georgia State University’s Spring Class of 2022 – congratulations to our graduates! I am proud to once again welcome families and friends to our Macon Campus as we come together to applaud the successes of the students who have worked for so long to reach this special day.

“Commencement” refers to a beginning – in this case, the beginning of your life after college, now that you have secured the degree you have been pursuing for the past few months and years. Whether your next steps involve looking for that perfect job or advancing in your existing career, or if this is just one more milestone on your way to future academic successes, know that we are honored that you chose to find your greatness here with us at MGA.

We know that our graduates are exceptional. We know that the next generation of leaders in our businesses and communities are walking across the stage today. We know that the lessons learned here – both in and out of the classroom – will help shape the direction of the future for our communities. And we know that wherever that future leads you, we will remain proud of you as a member of our Knights family.

As you celebrate today – and beyond – remember to thank those who have supported you on this journey. The faculty and staff who have worked with you and rooted for your success, the family and friends who supported you and cheered you on, and the classmates with whom you lived, worked, and studied – your presence here today speaks to not only your accomplishment but also to the work, care, and help of others.

My most sincere gratitude to each of you for sharing your unique point of view and experiences with us and for choosing Middle Georgia State. We hope that you will remain engaged with us and will maintain the friendships and connections you have established here. Our community does not end at the edge of our campuses – our Knights continue the traditions of MGA wherever they are, and you are now a part of that larger family.

To the Spring Class of 2022, I say again congratulations and best wishes to all for an exciting and fulfilling future. We look forward to seeing you each make your mark in the world.

Christopher Blake, Ph.D.
President, Middle Georgia State University
The Middle Georgia State University Honors and Awards Committee, with the approval of the President of the University, designates a student or students from the senior class to be a President’s Scholar. Selection is based on the student’s exceptional academic record and involvement in campus life. In addition, the student must demonstrate characteristics indicating the promise of a successful future.

Symone Caldwell graduates with a bachelor of science degree in Early Childhood Special Education. An Honors Discipline Graduate, she has a 3.9 GPA and is the recipient of the Outstanding Academic Excellence in Early Childhood Education Award, which was presented at Spring Honors Convocation.

Caldwell’s professors, who nominated her for the award, said she consistently demonstrates academic excellence, strong leadership skills, and active community engagement. As one of the first peer mentors in the teacher education program, she demonstrated leadership, professionalism, enthusiasm, and dedication.

“The high expectations Symone sets for herself reflects in the quality of her work, but her commitment to the success of her peers, her school, and her profession is what makes her standout as a leader,” said Sonja Rivers, academic advisor in the School of Education & Behavioral Sciences.

Caldwell, a graduate of Telfair County High School, said she always wanted to be a teacher. “I am the eldest child of nine children, and I remember acting as a teacher as they took on the role of students,” she said.

“My fourth-grade teacher also had an impact on me. I remember during that time of my life I was dealing with my parents’ separation. She noticed a change in me; she worked to motivate me and support me not only academically, as I was a student who struggled, but also emotionally. The bond she created was never forgotten.”

Caldwell’s campus activities at MGA included completing projects, such as the Executive Certifications Better Me/Better World, for the National Society of Leadership and Success, serving as a peer mentor in the School’s Department of Teacher Education and Social Work, presenting research at the Georgia Council of Teachers of Mathematics Conference, and writing an article for INSPIRE, the School’s teacher education magazine.

A non-traditional student and mother of two, Caldwell is the teacher of record at Bleckley County Elementary School. Her plans are to begin her teaching career in Dodge County where she lives and to pursue a graduate degree.

“I also intend to continue my personal goals to support students on their academic journey,” she said. “I want to always build relationships to support students. I want to practice a growth mindset within the classrooms and teach students self-efficacy and how to use their talents to be leaders.”

Symone Caldwell’s personal philosophy:

We all have greatness within. It takes one step at a time to reach it.
Gretchen Corbin was appointed president and CEO of the Georgia Lottery Corporation in January 2018. Her business goal, she said, is to fulfill the corporation’s mission to maximize revenues for HOPE and Pre-K, ensuring that Georgia’s students continue to have access to these important educational programs.

Currently, the Georgia Lottery provides $1.2 billion to the state of Georgia each year for the HOPE Scholarship and Pre-K programs. Since inception in 1993, the Georgia Lottery has returned more than $20.5 billion to the state of Georgia for education. More than 1.8 million students have benefited from HOPE scholarships and grants, and more than 1.6 million 4-year-olds have attended lottery-funded Pre-K.

Prior to her role at the Georgia Lottery Corporation, Corbin served as commissioner of the Technical College System of Georgia (TCSG) where she oversaw the state’s 22 technical colleges; 135,000 students; 46,000 economic development trainees; 15,000 employees; and an $800 million budget.

Corbin joined TCSG from the Georgia Department of Community Affairs (DCA), where, as commissioner, she managed 65 programs and was responsible for more than $71 million in investment in Georgia communities.

Before joining DCA, she served 15 years at the Georgia Department of Economic Development in a variety of roles, including deputy commissioner of global commerce. Her work within Georgia and throughout the world brought nearly 69,000 jobs and more than $13 billion in capital investment to Georgia.

With her leadership experience at these agencies, Corbin has a unique understanding of the way education and business must come together to ensure that Georgia has a globally competitive workforce.

She is involved in a number of professional and civic organizations, including Leadership Georgia, where she served as president and chair, the Georgia Tech Manufacturing Institute’s external advisory board, the University of Georgia’s board of visitors, and the Rotary Club of Atlanta.

Each year for the past six years, Corbin has been named one of Georgia Trend magazine’s 100 Most Influential Georgians. She also made the list of Atlanta Business Chronicle’s Top 20 Women Who Mean Business.
Dr. Curtis Jones, Jr., who joined the Bibb County School District in April 2015, is dedicated to developing students to become scholars, leaders, and good citizens.

Jones, who will retire at the end of the current school year, used his classroom and administrative experiences to develop a strategic plan for the Bibb district. Titled “Victory in Our Schools,” the plan has five goals, including increasing student achievement, student and stakeholder engagement, and teacher and leader effectiveness; being a reliable organization; and learning and growth.

He has worked to ensure the district’s instructional practices meet the needs of students and prepare them to be college and/or career ready. When he joined the district, Jones set one of his first long-term goals, which was to raise the district’s graduation rate to 90 percent by 2025. The district has made great gains in improving its graduation rate, which was 58.9 percent in 2014 and increased to 80.67 percent in 2021.

Under his leadership, the Bibb County School District received Georgia’s College Board Linking Award in 2017 and the Digital School District Survey Award in 2018, and the Bibb County Board of Education was twice named a Distinguished Board by the Georgia School Boards Association.

Jones began his career in education as a JROTC instructor with the Griffin-Spalding County School System. He became a high school principal, advanced to assistant superintendent then superintendent before coming to Bibb County.

Before his educational career, Jones served in the U.S. Army, retiring as a lieutenant colonel. He is a graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, and he earned a doctorate degree in Educational Leadership from Nova Southeastern University.

The Georgia School Superintendents Association (GSSA) named him Georgia Superintendent of the Year in 2019, and two months later the AASA-The School Superintendents Association named him the National Superintendent of the Year.
Robert Pruitt was elected to the Georgia House of Representatives in 2020. He represents District 149, which includes Dodge, Jeff Davis, Laurens, Telfair, and Wheeler counties.

He serves on several House committees including Economic Development and Tourism, Industry and Labor, and Small Business Development.

Pruitt, who is a pilot, pilot instructor, and entrepreneur, is the CEO and president of SoPoly Outdoor Furniture in Eastman. Previously, he was vice president of business development for Dynamic Software Solutions.

A member of the first graduating class at the Heart of Georgia Technical Institute in Eastman (now Middle Georgia State University’s School of Aviation), Pruitt earned a diploma in flight technology there, and he has the distinction of being the institute’s first aviation student to fly solo.

In 1997, he graduated from Middle Georgia College, now Middle Georgia State University, with an associate of applied science degree in technology. He earned his bachelor of applied science degree in professional aeronautics from Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University.

Pruitt was born in Fort Bragg, N.C., where his parents were stationed while both served in the U.S. Army. Being part of a military family, he traveled extensively throughout in his childhood, living in Germany, Oklahoma, Florida, Georgia (Augusta and Chauncey), and Japan.

Pruitt, his wife, and three children reside in Eastman.
In October 2021, Arthur L. Tripp, Jr., was appointed by President Biden’s administration to serve as executive director of the United States Department of Agriculture Farm Service Agency (FSA) in Georgia.

In this role, Tripp manages 300 employees and 66 offices across the state and oversees the implementation of $1.8 billion in funding for Georgia.

Prior to his FSA appointment, Tripp served as the senior policy advisor to U.S. Congressman David Scott, current chair of the House Committee on Agriculture. In his role as senior policy advisor, Tripp managed the agriculture policy portfolio for the congressman.

Tripp also served as a senior administrator in the Office of the President at the University of Georgia (UGA) and as district director for Georgia’s 7th Congressional District.

While working in the UGA President’s Office, Tripp played a key role in launching the Road Dawgs program where a team of UGA students and administrators visited high school and middle school students in rural and inner city areas across the state to promote the importance of receiving a high school education and vocational training.

Born in Warner Robins, Tripp graduated from Duluth High School. He earned a degree in Political Science at UGA. He was listed in the 2015 Class of the University of Georgia’s 40 Under 40. He also served on the Alumni Board of Directors for the UGA School of Public and International Affairs.

Tripp is a graduate of the 2019 Leadership Georgia Class, and he served the 2020 Class as program chair. Leadership Georgia is one of the nation’s oldest and most successful leadership training programs for business, civic, and community leaders who have the desire and potential to work together for a better Georgia.

Tripp also served on the Athens Chamber of Commerce’s board of directors. An ordained minister, Tripp lives in Hoschton, Ga.
Laura Whitaker’s association with Extra Special People, Inc., began when she worked there as a counselor and, subsequently, a leadership team member in 2003.

Her passion for enhancing the lives of children with developmental disabilities and her specialized education in the field earned Whitaker the position of director of Extra Special People (ESP) in 2004 after the sudden passing of the founder, Martha Wyllie.

Now the executive director of ESP, Whitaker uses her leadership and management strengths to supervise staff, oversee multiple year-round programs, and handle the fund-raising for the programs.

“My favorite part of the job is getting to hug the many children who walk through the ESP doors,” said Whitaker, who describes her work there as not just her dream job but as “the dream job that found me.”

Whitaker earned a bachelor’s degree in Collaborative Special Education and a master’s degree in Adapted Curriculum Classic Autism at the University of Georgia (UGA). In 2012, Whitaker and ESP were featured in the UGA Graduate School Magazine, and she was listed No. 12 in UGA’s list of the Bulldog’s 100 Top Growing Business Leaders.

Whitaker also has been included in “40 Under 40” lists in several Georgia publications, including Atlanta Business Chronicle, Georgia Trend, and Athens Banner Herald, as well as the UGA Alumni Association.

Previously, she received the Athens Banner Herald’s Super Citizen Award, the Rotary Club of Oconee County’s Community Four-Way Test Award, and the Oconee County Chamber of Commerce’s Volunteer of the Year Award.

She served on the United Way of Northeast Georgia’s board of directors and has been a member of the Oconee Civitan Club, North Oconee Rotary Club, and Junior League of Athens. Currently, she is involved with the LEAD Athens Steering Committee, Leadership Georgia, and Classic City Church.
ACADEMIC HONORS

These designations apply only to students receiving the baccalaureate degree. To graduate with honors, a baccalaureate student must have completed at least 60 semester hours of course work at Middle Georgia State University and earned a cumulative institutional GPA of at least 3.5:

THE MACE
Originally a medieval weapon, the mace evolved into a symbol of military power and civil authority. Many colleges and universities now use it as a ceremonial emblem during formal observances as a reminder that education is a symbol of the institution’s authority to confer degrees. The Middle Georgia State University mace is 48 inches in height and made of walnut with brass accents.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION
The President of the University wears the Chain of Office and Medallion as a sign of authority. The Middle Georgia State University medallion is embossed with the University seal.

THE GONFALONS
Gonfalons are ceremonial banners or pennants suspended from a crossbar. They are used by many institutions of higher education to add ceremony to commencement exercises and formal academic occasions. Gonfalons date back to medieval Italy where they were used as symbols of office or state.
ACADEMIC REGALIA

In its essential features, the academic regalia worn at American college commencement exercises had its beginning in the Middle Ages. The oldest universities of Northern Europe grew out of church schools, and both faculty and students were regarded as a part of the clergy. Hence, as their regular costume, they wore clerical garb borrowed largely from the monastic dress of their day.

The academic gown and hood were first regularly adopted by Cambridge University in 1284 and by Oxford University later. The custom was transplanted to this country in colonial times by King’s College, now Columbia University, in New York.

In 1895 American universities and colleges decided to standardize their academic styles and developed the intercollegiate code of academic costume. The style follows in the Cambridge tradition. The distinctive caps, gowns and hoods worn at present-day college and university functions denote the institution that granted the degree, the field of learning in which the degree was earned and the level of the degree — bachelor, master or doctorate.

The gown is usually of black material (serge or worsted for bachelor’s, the same or silk for master’s and silk for doctorate). Bachelor’s gowns have pointed sleeves and master’s gowns have long pouch-like sleeves. Doctorate gowns are faced with panels of velvet down the front and three bars of velvet across each sleeve. Four bars across each sleeve indicate a doctorate as well as a president or chancellor of an institution.

The cap — the square mortar-board in most American universities — but a round, soft, flat velvet hat in British, Canadian and some European universities — bears a tassel, which may be black or it may be a color according to the scholarly field of the wearer. Only the doctorate cap may be of velvet.

The hood, worn around the neck so as to hang down the back, is the principal emblem of the nature and source of the degree held. The colors in the hood lining are the colors of the school conferring the degree. The color of the border indicates the scholarly field of the wearer. Hoods may be worn only after the degree has been granted.

The degree colors are appropriate to the category of the degree rather than to the specific major subject. For example, the appropriate color for a degree in Arts & Letters is white; in Commerce (Business), drab; in Education, light blue; in Science, golden yellow; in Medicine, green; and so on. These colors are used for the edging of all hoods and may be used for the velvet facing and sleeve bars for doctorate gowns and tassels on bachelor’s and master’s caps.

THE HOODING CEREMONY

Hooding ceremonies at institutions of higher education recognize students who have earned an advanced degree beyond the bachelor’s degree. During Middle Georgia State University’s commencements, each master’s degree graduate comes forward to have the hood placed over his/her head by the school’s dean. The hood becomes part of the academic regalia and denotes scholarly and professional achievements. The color of the hood is associated with the degree completed by the graduate.
A TRADITION BEGINS

President Christopher Blake introduced what is now a tradition at Middle Georgia State University’s commencement ceremonies. After the Candidates for Degree receive their diplomas, the President confers their degrees/certificates. To signify passage from Candidate for Degree to Graduate, each graduate moves the tassel on her/his cap from the right side to the left side.

The President asks the front row of graduates to move their tassels accordingly, then he asks them to turn around and move the tassels of those in the second row, who then turn around and do the same for the third row and so on.

MGA alumni are now part of the tradition by moving the tassels of new graduates sitting on the front row. Alumni who will participate are:

Participation in the commencement ceremony does not necessarily represent conferral of the degree. Degrees are awarded at the end of the term in which all requirements are met. In order to meet publication deadlines, the Commencement Program was printed before all spring semester grades were posted and, as such, not all names and/or academic honors may be listed here.

While grades are due May 11, they will not be posted on the academic transcript until May 19, as listed on the Academic Calendar, due to the end-of-term processing. All degrees will be posted by June 20, and diplomas will be mailed beginning July 6. Graduates should check their SWORDS account to monitor and find out when their degree is posted.
