Bachelor of Science in Rehabilitation Science Suggested 4-Year Plan of Study

If you are a flexible, compassionate student, eager to serve others through empowerment, the Rehabilitation Science Program could be your perfect fit! The demand for professionals assisting individuals with disabilities is increasing each year. The bachelor's degree program in Rehabilitation Science provides students with the knowledge and skills needed to obtain a fulfilling career in the vast field of rehabilitation. Graduates will be prepared to pursue careers in a variety of human service settings including, independent living facilities, long-term care facilities, disability accommodation programs at schools or universities, community programs, mental health facilities, or state and federal rehabilitation programs such as the Georgia Department of Human Services Division of Aging Services. Graduates will also have the core pre-requisites required for most graduate programs in the field of rehabilitation science, including occupational therapy, physical therapy, and speech-language pathology.

The Bachelor of Science in Rehabilitation Science at Middle Georgia State University consists of 120 college credit hours.
